

NEW ROOF NO MESS[®]

WE ARE A PROFESSIONAL NEW ROOF NO MESS® CONTRACTOR

Respect for Your Property is
Our Number One Priority

A photograph of a house with a blue tarp covering the lawn and a black pipe extending from the roof. The tarp is spread out on the ground, and the pipe is visible on the right side of the image. The house is in the background, and there are some plants and trees in the foreground.

SOMETIMES LESS IS MORE

Many roofers use big tarps to catch falling shingles, nails, tar paper, and more as it rains down around your flowers and shrubs. Other contractors back dump trucks over your lawn and against your house in hopes of catching most of the debris they toss from your roof.

THE BETTER WAY TO ROOF

We use the Equipter on our jobs. This powerful self-propelled dump trailer raises up to catch the old shingles before they even have a chance of snapping branches off your shrubs or knocking buds off your favorite flowers.

We made this innovative investment as a commitment to protect your property during the entire roofing process.

A SELF-PROPELLED SOLUTION

The Equester RB4000 runs on its own 13 horsepower Honda engine, enabling us to drive it on and around the job site. Its wide tires leave minimal tracks on lawns and landscapes.

LIFTING YOU TO A NEXT-LEVEL EXPERIENCE

The large dump container of the RB4000 lifts up to 12 feet towards the roof, providing less distance for the debris to fall. This helps us protect your exterior walls and windows from getting hit by stray debris.

The RB4000 can also deliver material right to the roofline, making setup and production much faster and allowing us to finish your job sooner.

SOLVING DEBRIS MANAGEMENT STUGGLES

Able to hold over 4 cubic yards of material, the RB4000 allows us to transport an average of 12 to 15 square of roofing debris across the job site. The hydraulic tailgate provides an easy way for us to dump debris while keeping your property clean.

A person wearing plaid shorts and a yellow hard hat is walking on a green lawn. The background shows a house with a brown roof and some trees under a clear sky.

MAINTAINING HIGH STANDARDS FOR SUCCESS

We value your property as if it were our own. That's why we're committed to providing the New Roof No Mess experience, made possible by Equipter. This innovative equipment helps us ensure your property will remain protected throughout the entire roof replacement process.

NEW ROOF NO MESS[®]